

Aimee Harman

Behavioural Development Trainer

An experienced Behavioural Development trainer and coach championing individuals across a range of global employers, Aimee specialises in putting people first and advocates for an environment of vulnerability through her sharing without shame philosophy.

Proudly from the UK, she has experienced different DEIA challenges compared to her US counterparts, but knows one thing stays the same; learning and evolving doesn't depend on where you're from. You will have your own challenges but we as a community of Active Allies come together and support each other.

Drawing on her extensive knowledge from college and professional experience and a drive to stand and be an advocate, Aimee's inquisitive nature helps her challenge conventions by asking tough questions. Her nine years in the education sector and passion for people has also allowed Aimee to understand how people learn.

Find Aimee at NextPivotPoint.com, @NextPivotPoint, or on LinkedIn.